

Nguyen Huynh Quang (s3927039)

My name is Nguyen Huynh Quang. I'm currently studying in the IT field at RMIT University. My biggest dream is becoming a software engineer. The reason why I chose it as my future career is because I have passion and interest in technology. I want to make the world advance in technology and science. I am interested in data analytic and game development. Data analytics will help the company solve their problem using data and game development will help people entertain themselves after hours of work or study.

Group Process:

As far as I see, our team has done a good job at this course. They are along with me to do the group project and help me when I am stuck on some problems. Loi and Ky Anh handled the most pressure job, web development. Loi handles the front end of the web while Ky Anh handles the back end of the web. Beside web development, they also took part in writing reports. The Anh and I handle the scriptwriting and report, I think that The Anh and I cooperated perfectly to carry out the report with a good writing style. .
